Opening Remarks: In the opening remarks you will give a brief introduction of who you are, your thesis, and then the first argument you will be presenting.

Second Speech: In the second speech you will give another argument AND defend any attacks made against you thus far.

Third Speech: In the third speech you will give another argument AND defend any attacks made against you thus far.

Closing: In the closing, you will summarize ALL arguments you made in the debate and explain why you won the debate.

Cross Ex: In the cross ex, the side that did not just give a speech will be asking the other side questions. These questions should help you build your case while attacking the other side's case.
